DETAILED ACTION

In view of the Appeal Brief filed on 4/15/2008, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) initiate a new appeal by filing a notice of appeal under 37 CFR 41.31 followed by an appeal brief under 37 CFR 41.37. The previously paid notice of appeal fee and appeal brief fee can be applied to the new appeal. If, however, the appeal fees set forth in 37 CFR 41.20 have been increased since they were previously paid, then appellant must pay the difference between the increased fees and the amount previously paid.

A Supervisory Patent Examiner (SPE) has approved of reopening prosecution by signing below:

Supervisory Patent Examiner, Art Unit 3764.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1, 8, 9, 11, 12, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification as originally filed does not include support for a solid (not hollow) microneedle tip.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the solid (ie not hollow) tip must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(c) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(c) as being anticipated by Sherman et al (US 2002/0020688).

Sherman et al disclose in Figure 11 a microneedle device comprising a first major surface (140), a plurality of microneedles (182, 184) formed of polymers (paragraphs 0015 and 0016) comprising a base that is tapered to a flat truncated tip distal the base. Sherman et al disclose in paragraph 0088 that the microneedle can comprise a solid flat tip. Sherman et al further disclose in paragraphs 0075 and 0076 the flat tip capable of comprising an area of between 20 and 100 square micrometers and the base are capable of being 900 square micrometers or more, and the height base ratio being capable of being 3:1 or more. Sherman et al also disclose in these paragraphs a microneedle device capable of having a cross-sectional area of no more than 25% of the base on a plane located at a distance of 0.98h from the base.

Sherman et al disclose in paragraph 0009 the method of using the microneedle device comprising the step of contacting the skin and forcing the microneedle device against the skin.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 4/15/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Figure 11 of Sherman does not possess a solid flat tip, but rather a pointed surface at the tip of the needle. However, even if one were to assume that this is the case, it is still inherent that even a pointed must have some width to it, and thus inherently possesses a flat tip. As to the tip not being solid, Sherman does not disclose any discontinuities around the conical pointed surface and thus discloses a solid tip. As per the definition provided by Msn Encarta, solid is defined as "uninterrupted: continuing without breaks or opening." It is obvious that Sherman does in fact disclose such a solid tip.

Furthermore, this definition of 'solid' if the only definition of solid which would be enabled by the Applicant's drawings and specification and would not otherwise be considered new matter. If the Applicant is intending that solid means 'not hollow' Applicant is notified, as in the 112th rejection and drawing objection above, that there is no antecedent basis for this in the specification as originally filed, and furthermore, it is not clear from the drawings whether or not the microneedles of the Applicant's invention have a solid (ie uninterrupted) tip as in Sherman or if they have a solid (ie not hollow) tip as it appears Applicant is currently arguing.

Art Unit: 3764
